

She's Gonna Blow!

A vision and word from the Lord:

I saw a little flame moving along an explosive fuse.

"The touch paper is lit, the fuse fast diminishing. Only a brief moment now till the thing blows open, exposing the dead men's bones, but also My treasure within.

Exposure, uncovering, blowing the lid off to let My light in. For I am the Lord of the light and I will decide where and when the light streams in. That which is born in the light, seeks light and thrives in full sight. That which darkness spawned cannot remain when My truth ignites, bringing revelation and exposure to all the enemy has done.

She is about to blow, so don't let go. Continue to hold fast and you will out last, for greater in you is He who was raised from the dead."

"Does not my word burn like fire?" says the LORD. "Is it not like a mighty hammer that smashes a rock to pieces?"

Jeremiah 23:29 (NLT)