A Comforted Way

I saw a tree-lined avenue with a soft, woolly boundary (like a bunched-up Eiderdown) along each side. It was acting as a buffer.

Peace is a comforted way, a protected way, the necessary way in this day and age. Pursue the way of peace and allow Me to place My peace where disjointedness has been.

With My peace come the pieces, the vision and ability to see the whole; for where I AM allowed to be, shalom is manifest and the pieces are loved into the whole, the wholeness and oneness of the Prince of Peace and Love.
